

Page Load Time Plugin (v1.1.4)

Using the Webtrekk Load Time plugin allows you to capture your page loading times, as well as integrate the values shown in milliseconds into your Webtrekk analyses.

If the plugin is integrated, the load time parameter is added to each defined page request. This delays the sending of the page request until the page has been completely loaded.

Sending the page request after the page has been completely loaded may cause the request to be lost if the user leaves the page prematurely. Order confirmation pages are excluded from this.

This document describes the configuration and technical integration of the Page Load Time plugin on your website.
